

Mayor's Corner

Summer vacation is over, the kids are back in school and you may be considering what you'd really like to do now! How about volunteering at the City of Tigard? We have opportunities coming up that may interest you. The Planning Commission is looking for members and volunteers are sought for Tigard's projects in this year's National Make-A-Difference Day on October 27. More details about these opportunities are included in this Cityscape issue.

Volunteers recently made a difference by assisting in:

- The teen reading program. More than 350 young people registered this year, which was a 49% increase from last year.
- Daily library assistance. Monthly library circulation activity has increased steadily: 47,660 - July '99; 50,344 - July '00; 59,189 - July '01.
- Stop Oregon Vandalism & Litter event. Fire hydrants were painted and about 400 trees were planted in Englewood Park and at a water quality facility near Cook Park.

To volunteer, contact Susan Koepping, Volunteer Coordinator, at 503-639-4171, Ext. 460 or susank@ci.tigard.or.us. Thank you volunteers and have a safe Halloween season!

Volunteers participate in National Make-A-Difference Day October 27, 2001

Tigard will once again participate in National Make-A-Difference DAY on Saturday, October 27, 2001. All projects start at 9 a.m. and finish at noon. Join your neighbors, friends, family members and fellow employees to Make-A-Difference in your community.

► COOK PARK

Plant trees and build a privacy fence.

► TIGARD LIBRARY

It's hard to keep up with all those books and materials that come and go in the library. Extra hands are needed for a variety of tasks including relabeling shelves, and "reading" shelves to be sure every book is where it should be.

► COMMUNITY PARTNERS FOR AFFORDABLE HOUSING

Plant spring bulbs.

For more information or to sign up for a specific project, contact Susan Koepping, Volunteer Coordinator, at susank@ci.tigard.or.us or 503-639-4171, ext. 460.

City of Tigard Planning Commission openings

The City Council is accepting applications from citizens interested in serving on the Planning Commission. Three existing terms expire on December 31, 2001.

The Planning Commission consists of nine members appointed by the City Council for four-year terms. The Commission usually meets on the first and third Mondays of each month.

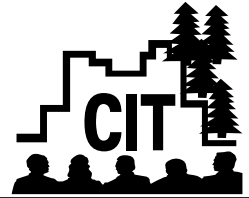

Commission responsibilities include:

- ★ Assisting the City Council to develop, implement, maintain and update the City Comprehensive Plan.
- ★ Formulating the City's Capital Improvements Program.
- ★ Reviewing and taking action on development projects and Development Code provisions.

Closing date for applications is October 26. If you are interested in serving on the Planning Commission or have questions, please contact Susan Koepping, Volunteer Coordinator, at susank@ci.tigard.or.us or 503-639-4171, ext. 460. Application may be made by completing a Citizen Interest Application. Copies are available at City Hall, Tigard Library and on the website, www.ci.tigard.or.us, "Volunteer Opportunities" page.

October CIT Meeting Notice

City of Tigard now offers online utility bill payment

The City of Tigard is now offering its water, sewer and storm water customers the ability to pay their bills using a credit card (Visa or Mastercard) over the Web! Customers can review their account information and pay their bills online thanks to a new web-secured UBPAYMENTS service offered by the City. The service, which is free to use, lets customers view their account history, billing information and water consumption history 24 hours a day using the Internet. Customers can also have the option of being notified by e-mail when they get a new bill. Craig Prosser, City of Tigard Finance Director, said "This new service allows our customers to access their account day or night and reduce the number of checks they write." Prosser also noted that "customers have been requesting web payment for some time. We're glad to now be able to offer this convenience for those customers who want to use it."

To access your utility account online, go to the City of Tigard's website at www.ci.tigard.or.us and click on the "Online Water/Sewer Utility Bill Payments" link. You must use a web browser that supports "JavaScript," such as Netscape 4 or newer, or Internet Explorer 4 or newer. Using a recent utility bill as a reference, customers will be asked to complete some initial information online and set up a secure account by choosing their own login name and password.

If there are any questions, problems or suggestions regarding this new service, customers can contact City of Tigard Utility Billing at 503-639-4171.

Employee of the Month!

Congratulations to Roger Dawes, Employee of the Month for September 2001! Roger is a Senior Accountant in the Finance Department and began working with the City in November 1999.

Since he started at the City, Roger has consistently shown excellent customer service working with City employees and outside vendors. He has been the key Finance Department staff member responsible for coordinating the preparation of the monthly financial statements for City departments, so that everyone receives budgetary and financial data in a timely manner. Also, Roger was instrumental in coordinating grant accounting and reporting throughout the City. His efforts have improved the quality of information that the Finance Department provides and the good customer relations reputation that it enjoys.

Roger, we appreciate your hard work and congratulate you this month!

Update on proposed new library: site recommended

The New Tigard Library Construction Committee recommended a site for the proposed new library to the City Council at its August 28 meeting. After reviewing the recommendation from the Committee, the City Council unanimously approved the proposed site for the new library and gave authorization to pursue an option to purchase.

The proposed site is 14.7 acres located on the east side of Hall Boulevard near O'Mara. More than five acres on this site are developable. The advantages of this location include close proximity to City Hall, ability to accommodate the recommended two-story library, easy access to public transportation, ample space for the necessary parking for the new library and future expansion and access to nature and greenspace.

In August the City Council gave approval to contract with BML Architects to construct an architectural model of the proposed library. This model will demonstrate the relationship between functionality and architectural design of the new library and will be completed in mid-October.

If you would like to schedule a presentation for your neighborhood or organization about the proposed new library or for more information, please contact Library Director, Margaret Barnes, at margaret@ci.tigard.or.us or 503-639-4171, ext. 263.

Tree placement is important

In the Pacific Northwest fall and winter are the ideal seasons to plant trees. The substantial rainfall and relatively mild temperatures are favorable conditions for trees to thrive the following spring.

Planting the appropriate tree in the right place is important to minimize future conflicts between the trees' requirements for survival and the presence of hardscape (house, sidewalk, road, utilities, etc.). When deciding upon the species of trees to plant in your yard carefully consider the following:

- Determine the size of the growing space, taking into consideration the height and canopy the tree will reach at maturity. For example, do not plant a tree that can reach 70 feet at maturity underneath utility wires. Do not plant a tree that can attain a canopy spread of 40 feet next to your house.
- Determine the growing conditions of the site. Is the location in full sun? What is the soil type? Is the location a very dry or moist site? For example, if you want to plant a tree in or near standing water choose a tree that has adapted to living in wet soil such as a willow tree.

A copy of the approved street tree list is on the City's website at www.ci.tigard.or.us. The list contains descriptions of numerous trees including their size at maturity, required growing space and growth rates.

When planting a tree:

- The diameter of the planting hole should be two to three times larger than the root ball or container.
- If the soil is very poor and/or compacted the hole should be up to five times larger.
- The depth of the hole should be the same depth as the root ball or container.

- The bottom of the hole should be firm to prevent the tree from sinking.
- Gently place the root ball into the hole. Make sure that the tree trunk is vertical.
- Remove as much of the burlap and wire cage as possible without breaking the root ball. At least cut off the upper third of the wire cage and burlap. If possible, snip the remaining parts of the basket where two pieces of wire cross so the basket can expand if necessary as the tree's roots grow.
- Backfill the hole with native soil. If the native soil quality is poor, then mix a small amount of soil amendment (peat moss, shredded leaves or high quality mulch) with the native soil.
- When placing the soil back into the hole, pack it down lightly to remove any air pockets.
- Avoid fertilizing the soil at the time of planting. Fertilize after one or two years.
- Add 3-4" of high quality mulch (wood chips, leaf litter, shredded bark or peat moss) around the base of the tree out to the edge of the planting hole. Do not bunch soil around the base of the tree's trunk.
- Stake the tree only if necessary. If the tree cannot stand upright then staking, in conjunction with flexible tie material, is necessary. Staking may also be required for very large trees that have been transplanted with small root balls. To avoid damage, stakes and ties that are supporting the tree must be removed after one or two growing seasons. The ties may girdle and kill the tree if not removed.

For more information, contact Matt Stine, Urban Forester, at mstine@ci.tigard.or.us or 503-639-4171, ext. 423.

Where's your RV?

The Tigard Municipal Code (TMC) allows RV's, boats, trailers and similar items to be parked in the street for a total of ten days per year. They cannot block free passage or vision of the street, corners or any traffic control devices.

The TMC does not restrict you from parking your own RV's, boats, etc., on your property as long as it is not causing an obstruction. For example, an RV should not hang over a sidewalk (or onto any public right of way). In addition, the RV should not block visual clearance out or onto your or your neighbor's driveway or the street.

Your RV, boat, etc., must have current vehicle license tags and cannot be occupied (lived in).

If you are thinking about building an RV storage area, please contact the Building Department, (503) 639-4171, for assistance and to learn the requirements for such buildings in your specific area.

RV's, boats or trailers left in the public right of way are subject to code enforcement activity including corrective notification and possibly a fine. More importantly, your neighbors will appreciate your efforts in keeping the street clear and safe.

For more information, please contact Christine Darnel, Code Compliance Specialist, at christine@ci.tigard.or.us or 503-639-4171, ext. 314.

Art quilts on display in the library

The quilting exhibit is sponsored by the Tigard Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) and features work by the president of the Northwest Quilters, Joanne Adams Duncan. See a variety of quilt patterns and some wall hangings of Navajo design in the lobby of the library this month.

Make every drop count

Although the rainy season is about to begin, saving water is still important! As the fall approaches and you begin to prepare your lawn and garden for the winter, remember these autumn water conservation tips:

- ▼ Planting in the fall gives plants an opportunity to become established during the rainy season instead of in the dry summer.
- ▼ Your lawn and garden will require less water in fall than in summer so be sure to alter your watering schedule.
- ▼ Add a rain sensor to your irrigation system (shuts off irrigation when it rains).
- ▼ Check your soil with a soil probe or long screwdriver to measure the depth of moisture and to make sure your watering is covering the plants' root zone and not exceeding it.
- ▼ Do not water your lawn or garden when it is raining.
- ▼ Check irrigation systems and timing devices regularly to be sure they operate properly.

For more information contact Sara Danz, Water Conservation Coordinator, at sara@ci.tigard.or.us or 503-639-4171 ext. 346.

Library shelvees needed for the fall rush

We could use your help for a couple of hours a week to put the books, videos and DVDs back in the right places. Shelving is a great way to find new library materials to take home too! To find out more about shelving or other library volunteer jobs, contact Trish Stormont at 503-684-6537, ext. 269.

Cross connection & backflow prevention program continues

Scenario...

You are washing your car and your garden hose is submerged into a bucket of soapy water. A few blocks away, a water line has just broken and the water pressure is lowered to the point that a vacuum or partial vacuum is created. What do you think happens to the hose in your bucket? Answer: Water is siphoned into your plumbing and to the water distribution system if you do not have a backflow protection assembly installed!

A similar vacuum can siphon non-potable water into the water supply system through open outlets such as submerged sprinkler heads.

Another cause of backflow is back-pressure, which occurs when a water customer's piping system (such as pumps, elevated piping, thermal expansion, etc.) creates a higher pressure than the public water supply system.

Here are some common questions about backflow and backflow protection:

1. What are the most common types of cross connection (backflow) found?

The garden hose is the most common cross connection. When used for cleaning drains or applying landscape chemicals, connected to pressure washers, or just left filling a swimming pool, dog's bowl, etc., garden hoses can create a cross connection.

2. Why do I have to install a backflow prevention assembly?

To protect water customers, the Environmental Protection Agency Safe Drinking Water Act, State of Oregon Laws and Uniform Plumbing Code all require that potential cross connections be equipped by the customer with backflow protection. The City of Tigard has adopted codes regulating cross connections.

3. Why do I have to install a backflow assembly on my lawn sprinkler system?

A lawn sprinkler system is considered a non-potable water use. The water in these systems can become contaminated by lawn chemicals, animal waste or the water may be stagnant.

4. Does my backflow assembly need to be tested?

The Oregon State Health Division requires that all backflow assemblies be tested once each year by a certified tester. These backflow assembly testers are private contractors and can be found in the phone directory. The City of Tigard maintains a list of testers that is available upon request.

For more information on how you can help in backflow protection, contact Hung Nguyen at hung@ci.tigard.or.us or 503-639-4171, ext. 367.

Return of the rentals!

Please watch for the revival of the Rental Book collection! In October, the Tigard Library will launch its Rental Book program. These books are purchased for popular titles that have long waiting lists and are provided for readers who may wish to rent rather than wait. The return of the Rental Book program is due to popular demand and the library staff is pleased to offer this service.

Tigard City Council Action Recap!

Here is a review of the City Council Meeting highlights for the past month:

- Delayed the City of Tigard Birthday Celebration to September 25 because of tragic events in our nation on September 11.
- Held a joint meeting with the Budget Committee for an update on financial issues; a hearing on a proposed supplemental budget and to hear status of the budget for Fiscal Year 2000-01.
- Delayed the discussion of sidewalk maintenance on major collectors to November 20, 2001.
- Discussed strategies to address affordable housing.
- Held a public hearing to finalize the Rose Vista Sewer Reimbursement District.
- Held a public hearing on revisions to the noise ordinance.

Future Council Agenda Items:

- ★ Conduct a public hearing on a supplemental budget affecting the parks system development fund and the underground utility fund.
- ★ Conduct a public hearing concerning a loan for Cook Park improvements.
- ★ Update Code provisions on emergency water use.
- ★ Attend a special meeting with the City of Tualatin Council on October 15, 2001, at the City of Tualatin.
- ★ Meet with the Senior Center Board.
- ★ Hear an update on the Washington County Vision West program.
- ★ Consider a resolution concerning the Sorg Rhododendron Garden.
- ★ Unveil the model for the proposed new Library.
- ★ Conduct a public hearing on solid waste rate adjustment.
- ★ Hear an update on the Tigard Beyond Tomorrow Visioning Program.

For additional information or if you have any questions about any of the items listed above, please contact City Recorder Cathy Wheatley at 503-639-4171, ext. 309. A copy of Council packet information can be found at the library for the last six months. Audio and video tape recordings of most meetings are also available at the library.
